WRECK ON THE ST. PAUL.

Four People Injured in a Derailment
Friday.

As we go to press today the report
comes of a wreck on the St. Paul road
between Pittsville and Hansen, the
accident occurring at about 12 o'clock,
by the coach being derailed and tipped
over. The injured are:

Frank Smith, Pittsville, several
severe bruises about head and shoulders, severely injured.

Mrs. Shumway, Marshfield, collar
bone broken and shoulder bruised.

A. L. Curing, Pittsville, badly
bruised but no bones broken.

Fred Wright, Brakeman, Babcock,
badly bruised but no bones broken.

The accident was caused by a car
of lumber jumping the track, taking
the passenger coach off with it and
tipping the coach over.

Medical aid was sent out from Pitts-
ville and later the injured ones were
taken to that city for treatment.

A Poor Relation.

It is a marvelous stage creation that
can keep an audience of play goers on
the verge of tears for two hours and a
half and preserve them from weeping
simply by making them laugh. Such
is the character of Noah Vale in Sol
Smith Russell's charming play "A Poor Relation" which comes to the
opera house next Wednesday night.
It is essentially a role that appeals to
the sympathies at times deeply; and
being delineated with such exquisite
finish by Frank Keenan, a comedian
whose methods are peculiarly adapted
to the character, it is no wonder that
the play that frames its setting has become a household word for all that
is clean and wholesome on the American stage. Manager Fred G. Berger
carries the same scenery, properties,
etc. used by Mr. Russell himself and a company superior to any that has yet
appeared in the piece, including Misses
Veta Henderson, Kate Long, Fanny
Barry Sprague, Katherine Dooling
and the two children "Rip" and
"Patch" and Messrs. Geo. R. Sprague
Geo. B. Miller, Marcus Moriarty, John
Cumberland and Chas. Buman.

Rebellion Survivors.

It is now forty years since the breaking out of the rebellion. In April,
1861, the southern states began to pass
secession resolutions and to prepare
to maintain a separate government.
The first call of Father Abraham was
for 75,000 ninety-day men. Of this number Wisconsin furnished 1,100.
Of this eleven hundred men 168 are living today. Four of the one hundred sixty-eight live in Merrill. They are Herman Walthers, F. A. Gibson,
James Ingersoll and Levy Ennis.

The Merrill survivors are contemplating getting up a reunion this
spring and if any reader of this article
knows of any soldier who was among those who responded to Lincoln's 75,000 call, they will confer a favor
by writing to Herman Walthers,
Merrill, Wis.

July 2, 1861, the first Wisconsin man
fell, killed at the battle of Falling Walters, Virginia. This was the beginning of the bloodiest war of the nineteenth century.—Merrill Advocate.

More Blooded Stock.

While in Canada last week William
Scott purchased seven more head of
full blooded short horn cattle, six cows
and a bull. The cows arrived on Monday and the bull on Wednesday. The latter is not yet two years old but it
weighs 1450 pounds and there is every
indication that it will weigh 2000
pounds when it has attained its full growth. It is a fine animal and many lovers of fine stock have visited Mr.
Scott's farm north of the city to admire his herd of shorthorns, which
now consists of fifteen thoroughbreds.

Wood County Won.

The case of Juneau County vs. Wood
County which was tried in supreme
court at Madison in January was decided in favor of Wood county.

Judge Webb had previously decided
for Wood county and his decision was
affirmed by the higher court.

The case was brought to recover
money spent for the support of Charles
Spies who has resided in Juneau
county for some time, but formerly
lived here. The court held that Spies
had never gained a residence here as he had been a pauper all the time he was
here, he having received aid from the
soldiers relief fund. District attorney
Wiperman conducted the case before
the supreme court.

Base Ball Circuit.

An effort is being made at Wausau
to organize a baseball circuit to include the towns of Wausau, Merrill,
Tomahawk, Marshfield, Grand Rapids
Stevens Point, Antigo and Rhine-
lander. An organization has already been perfected at Wausau and correspondence opened with other towns
mentioned above and it is thought
there will be no trouble in forming the circuit, as several of the towns have
already expressed a willingness to go
in.

Farm for Sale or Exchange.

Farm known as the Fred Podawiltz
place, on Four Mile creek at county line. 187 acres of land including 80
acres of hay marsh, 60 acres cleared,
good buildings, good fences, plenty of wood and good pasture. Convenient location, six miles from Grand Rapids.
EDWARD LYNCH.

Card of Thanks.

Joseph Rick takes this method of
thanking those who so kindly assisted
during the sickness and after the death of his beloved daughter,
Christina.

Death of Christina Rick.

On Saturday morning at three
o'clock the messenger of death entered the household of Joseph
Rick and carried his daughter
to that bourne from whence no traveler returns. The girl had suffered great pain for about two weeks and death was no doubt a great relief from acute suffering. She was first prostrated with pneumonia and before she
had fairly recovered it was found
necessary to perform an operation
for peritonitis, on which occasion
one of the bones of the forearm was removed. Altogether it seemed that
the strain was more than she could stand and she passed away on Saturday.

Christina was 15 years of age on
the 18th of last December, and was a
bright, energetic young lady just bloss-
oming into womanhood.

The funeral was held on Monday
and the remains interred in the Catholic cemetery, Rev. Van Roosmalen
performing the last sad rites.

APPRAISERS APPOINTED.

Men Now at Work Considering
Value of Condemned Property.

On Saturday Judge Webb appointed
as appraisers for the property desired
for the new railroad Messrs. Jacob
Searles, Archie McMillan and
William White. These gentlemen
started in on their work on Tuesday
and it is expected that they will be
through with everything in something
like two weeks.

On the 13th instant there will be a meeting of the appraisers before
which property holders who are interested may appear and give their
ideas as to the value of their property.

The appraisers will visit every
piece of property upon which condem-
nation proceedings have been begun
and by personal observation attempt
to give everybody concerned a square
deal.

The appraisers have only been working on the land to be used for the
main line of the road to and into this
city, the property below here having been abandoned for the present, at least.

Revenge on the Cow.

On Wednesday night at a late hour
Mrs. Ed. Bonham was awakened by some person or persons knocking at
the door of her house. As Mr. Bon-
ham was not at home and the hour
was very late Mrs. Bonham did not open the door to the visitors and after
a time they left without making known
their identity. The next morning it was discovered that some person had
visited the barn during the night and
poured some sort of acid over the cow,
burning the skin off the animal in a long streak along its back. The horse
also bore evidence of having been
struck over the head with some blunt
instrument and wounded. Who it was
that performed such a cowardly act
cannot be imagined by Mrs. Bonham
although it is thought that it was the work of the same parties who tried to
gain admission to the house and that
had they succeeded in getting some-
one to the door they would have
thrown the acid on them.

High School Notes.

Don't forget the illustrated lecture
"A Trip through Chicago," at the
high room next Friday evening,
March 8, for the benefit of the Forum,
admission 10 cents. This program
was advertised for last Friday evening but owing to the delay in the arrival of the slides it had to be pos-
poned. Remember the date, March 8.

Four weeks more of school, then one
week of pleasure and then eight weeks
to end of school term. Things begin
to look more serious to the Senior class. A few, who have not been grinding very hard so far, are seen
with set faces and four to five books
under their arms.

Miss Marion Ellison left last Thurs-
day noon for Marinette to attend an
Epworth League State convention
which was held there. She returned
Monday evening.

Mr. Hambrecht left Sunday night
for Chicago in the interests of the school. He is expected back next Sunday morning.

Some of the west side high school
pupils are absent from school having
a swell time. Reason is an attack of mumps.

As usual this has been the quietest
week of school owing to examinations
which began Wednesday noon.

Edgar Kellogg and Charles Jenkins
visited school on the west side
Wednesday afternoon.

No Forum to-night on account of examinations.

LOOKS LIKE A SALE.

Indications that the M. & S. E. has
Been Bought by Northwestern.

On Tuesday W. K. Cook, who had
been looking after the interests of the Northwestern road in this section and
buying right of way, received a telegram from his company calling him
to Milwaukee, and also instructing
him not to take deeds on any more
right of way between this city and Nekoosa.

While nothing was said concerning
the Port Edwards road, everybody
who has followed the operations of the
company here feel that these instructions have but one significance and
that is, that the Northwestern company has closed the deal by which they gain the possession of the Marsh-
field and Southeastern.

Probably no one thing has caused
so much discussion since the Northwestern road first intimated that they were going to build to this point as to whether they intended to buying the Marshfield road. Everyone seemed
to think that it would be the simplest
move for the company and greatly
expedite matters in the way of securing right of way privileges, and matters of a similar nature.

It was thought by many that the owner of the Marshfield road had received an offer from the Wisconsin
Central and that the probabilities were
that the Central intended getting possession of the road in order to shorten
their line between Chicago and St.
Paul, the same as the Northwestern
company is doing.

Mr. Roberts stated, however, during an interview on Thursday that he
was continuing the work of buying
right of way between this city and Marshfield and that he did not consider
that Mr. Cook's withdrawal had any bearing on the case. He did not state
positively, however, that he knew that
the Northwestern had not bought the Marshfield road but expressed it as
his belief that they had not.

Strikes a Rich Find.

"I was troubled for several years with chronic indigestion and nervous debility," writes F. J. Green, of Lancaster, N. H., "No remedy helped me un-

did me more good than all the medicines I ever used. They have also kept my wife in excellent health for

just splendid for female troubles; that

Asks City's Aid.

It is probable that the Electric &
Water company will request the city
to take charge of the waterworks
matter and issue municipal bonds for
the building of the system. This was found advisable when Messrs. Wood
and Gaynor visited the city where it
was expected to negotiate the bonds
and found that the rate for money
was considerably higher when secured
by corporation paper than by municipal bonds. The scheme would be for the city to own the plant and the electric company furnish the power to operate it.

BOARD PROCEEDINGS.

REPORT OF SPECIAL COMMITTEE APPOINTED TO CHECK UP ACCOUNTS OF RETIRING COUNTY OFFICERS.

To the Finance Committee of the County Board of Supervisors of Wood County, Wisconsin.

Gentlemen:—We the undersigned, Orrin Gray, A. N. Palmer and L. E. Philleo, engaged by Wm. Hooper, chairman of your Finance Committee, to examine and check up the records, accounts and vouchers of the retiring county officers for the years of 1899 and 1900, do hereby respectfully submit the following report:

After a thorough and careful examination and investigation of the tax certificates, records and vouchers in the office of the county treasurer, extending in time from the 7th to the 18th day of January, 1901, we have found and determined that the receipts and disbursements of that office for the term commencing January 2, 1899, and ending January 7, 1901, are as shown on per statement marked Exhibit A, hereto annexed.

and made a part of this report. Also the "certificate account" in the office of the county treasurer for the same term is as shown in statement marked Exhibit B, hereto annexed and made a part of this report.

We have carefully compared the tax rolls of the several towns, cities and villages of Wood County, for taxes of 1898 and 1899 with the returns of delinquent taxes as made by the treasurers of the several towns, cities and villages. We have also compared said returns with the Delinquent Land books for the years 1898 and 1899 and found the same to have been correct.

We have compared the county orders paid by the county treasurer with the corresponding "stubs" in the office of the county clerk, and have also compared the witness, jurors and court certificates paid by said county treasurer with the corresponding "stubs" in the office of the clerk of the court and found them all to agree and correspond. We have cancelled all such county orders, court certificates and orders paid by said treasurer from Jan. 2, 1899 to Jan. 7, 1901, on the "stubs" and "records" kept of all such orders, marking them "cancelled Jan. 25, 1901."

The total amount of such orders and certificates paid during said term of office and cancelled by us is as follows:

County orders $2541.97
Court orders 2293.41
Jurors certificates 477.85
Jail bonds and coupons 6160.00
Total $9563.23

Said above orders, certificates, bonds and coupons are all listed in the office of the county treasurer.

We find the following amounts due (state of Wisconsin):

Suit tax $31.00
Fines 231.00

We also find as per Exhibit 1, amounts due

Towns on delinquent $294.29
Delinquents held in trust for towns 2667.10

He has been in the hospital at Milwaukee a greater part of the time since the fore part of November receiving treatment for his injured eye, and an operation to remove a part of the iris was performed with success. It is probable that Elbert will not continue his studies at the university, as his physicians have advised him to engage in some outdoor employment that will not require too close application.

Here's a swindle to catch the farmer and it has the merit of being perfectly legal. Land speculator comes along and offers a big price for part of his farm. The farmer accepts and $50 is paid down to bind the bargain, the papers to be made out in two or three weeks. Before the time is up long comes speculator No. 2, and wants to buy the whole farm at a big price. Farmer bites and writes to No. 1 offering, say $400, to let him off. No. 1 reluctantly consents to this. No. 2 never shows up and the farmer is out $550.

Marshfield News: An unusual fatality occurred at Unity last Saturday. Mrs. H. Kolhepp sent her four year old boy to a neighboring house on an errand. While crossing the street the little fellow was met by several hogs and when they followed him with the evident desire of being fed from the part he carried, he was so badly frightened that he died a few minutes later from convulsions. Mr. and Mrs. Kolhepp formerly lived in Marshfield, the latter being the daughter of August Raatz, who lives near the Omaha depot. The funeral was held here last Sunday.

"The money order system is a Bank Deposit."

The business in the Money Order Department shows a greater increase in volume than even that of the postal receipts. The post office department is constantly devising means to bring the money order business closer to the great mass of people. The changes that have been instituted during the past year have served to so popularize this branch of service that its business is increasing wonderfully.

Post Office Banking.

The money order department of the post office is now in effect a bank deposit. In fact, the post offices in many of the cities are in a measure the people's banks. The Government as a bank has one great and overshadowing advantage over private institutions—it is absolutely safe. Banks can fail, but the Government is as solid as a rock. Money once deposited in Uncle Sam's bank is safe as long as Uncle Sam lives. The deposit may remain in the Money Order Department for many years, but the receipt is good always. Money order receipts do not grow stale, as bank checks do. One who has money to deposit can go to the post office, fill out an application, making the order payable to himself. The money goes into the funds of the Government and the depositor gets the receipt showing the amount he has deposited in the post office. The receipt takes the place of the certificate of deposit received by one who puts money in the bank, but of course bears no interest. When the depositor wishes to withdraw his account he may do so by presenting his money order. A money order may be used, too, like a check. A man who holds an order payable to himself may pay a bill with it as he would a bank check. A money order is negotiable paper and the holder may endorse it over to any one to whom he wishes to pay money and this person may take the order to the post office and receive cash for it. The only restriction is that money orders can only be endorsed to one person. This privilege of making a money order payable to self or any one in the same city in which it is purchased was granted by the Government only last fall and it is this new system which makes it possible for the people to use the money order department as a depository for their savings.

One can send a money order to almost any foreign country now. Orders have recently been sent by persons in this city to friends in far away Palestine and to Russia, to which latter country system was extended a few months ago.

VESPER.

John Nits and Wm. Mickey have sold their farms to J. A. Kruger, of Westfield, who will make a dairy farm of the two places. Messrs. Nits and Mickey expect to remove to Clintonville.

On Tuesday evening a jolly party assembled at the home of C. A. Otto to assist in celebrating his fiftieth birthday anniversary. Supper and refreshments were served and all report a good time.

On Sunday of last week several farmers from the neighborhood of Alford passed through here on their way to Arpin to get lumber for the new cheese factory which is to be built at Alford.

The Vesper lath and shingle mill will start up soon to do sawing for farmers hereabouts.

A baby boy arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Bord Monday morning, Feb. 25.

C. E. Seales was in town over Sunday the guest of his sister, Miss Mand Seales.

Charles, John and Emma Manson are sick with the mumps.

RUDOLPH.

Miss May Conlthart of your city spent Sunday with her parents. She was enquired by a party of young folks at her home Saturday evening, given in honor of her birthday.

Will Compton and Walter Conlthart, who are at work in the woods a short distance above Mosinee, spent Sunday at home with their parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilkey of Stevens Point were visitors at the residence of John Conlthart the first part of the week.

Willie Provost is on the sick list. Willie says it isn't the most pleasant of things to have the mumps.

Ed Sharkey, who was hurt last week in camp at Mosinee, is now on the rapid road to recovery.

CRANMOOR.

We notice that Cranmoor does not enjoy a monopoly of the mump trust. While neighboring towns are emulating our example we are still holding our own in families near the station. The disease has been very severe on Charles Kruger, confining him to his bed the greater part of the week. Minnie is getting along nicely, while Harrison the youngest child and probably the last victim in this family is just developing swollen cheeks.

We omitted a notable event last week in the disappearance of the section house from our station. The removal of this building to Sprague by the railroad company, takes away a landmark of many years standing. While it was not a thing of beauty and a joy forever one could find a little protection in the lee of its sides while patiently(?) waiting for an incoming train.

The membership of the Daniel Rezin household is increased by the addition of a little nephew and niece of Mrs. Rezin, who will perhaps remain with them some length of time. Pearl and Roy Rezin are over their illness and are again in school.

Hubert, Mary, Evelyn and Eloise Foley are all sick this week with mumps, grippe and other ailments. Mr. Foley and sister drove to Babcock Wednesday, the needs of the sick necessitating the trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Trahern have returned to their home at Walker station after spending the winter at the home of their daughter Mrs. Jerome Potter at Pittsville.

Miss Lillie Warner, who is learning shorthand at the sisters school in Grand Rapids is expected home Friday evening to remain over Sunday.

Congratulations are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Henderson of Grand Rapids over the arrival of the daughter at their home.

Mrs. Lena Suhs returned Sunday evening after spending some days with her sisters family in West Grand Rapids.

Miss Bertha Demske whose health was so badly impaired by pneumonia is feeling somewhat better the last few days.

The Gaynor Co. have cut and hauled about 12,000 ft. of logs to the little saw mill that is operated a few miles east of us.

Mrs. C. E. Lester entertained her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Paulus and Mrs. Beulah Biron on Thursday.

J. W. Fitch and Robert Steel are still making trips for wood purchased of Eugene Warner.

S. N. Whitlesey has been away several days this week collecting taxes.

Andrew Bissig visited at Pittsville last Sunday.

SHERRY.

A Woodman camp was established here lately with sixteen charter members which with about fifteen former members will consist of a large and strong camp. Meetings will be held the 1st and 3rd Saturday evenings of each month.

The new creamery is now in running order and it is considered one of the most finely equipped creameries in the county everything being of the latest improved pattern. Farmers will do well to patronize this creamery.

The Ladies Aid Society will give an oyster supper at the town hall on March 4th, a sale of fancy articles will also be held. The public are all invited to attend.

Mr. Becker of New Glarus moved into our village Thursday. Mr. Becker is one of the owners of the saw mill here.

Mr. Lehenier will move soon with his family to Stafford where he will operate a cheese factory.

C. N. Vermeulen and Otto Klieve were at Grand Rapids on business lately.

Jake Drollinger had the misfortune to lose two of his valuable horses lately.

Mrs. Pernier and son of North Dakota are visiting relatives here.

Foskett M. Putney is able to be about again after his recent illness.

George Weatherly and wife spent Wednesday at Grand Rapids.

Paul Zarneke moved his family into the village Monday.

BIRON.

Joe Fitzpatrick is back to this burg again. There seems to be something that attracts him here. He says it is good board.

Thomas McGrath was called down from Daney, Saturday, on account of the serious illness of his youngest child.

A sleigh load of school boys from the two mile school house made a good deal of noise in this village on Tuesday.

Mrs. Fred Phillips and Mrs. Maggie Akey of Rudolph visited with Mrs. Alfred Akey on Wednesday.

Will Parmeter from Stevens Point visited with his brother Walter Sunday.

Miss Miller gave her scholars a sleigh ride Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. F. M. Stearns is on the sick list this week.

SOUTH SIDE.

On Friday last Scott E. Payne of South Grand Rapids became the owner of Sandy Wilks, the handsome trotting horse formerly owned by the Kattelle estate and the roads between South Grand Rapids and the city have been kept real warm ever since.

John Prey, an employee of the S. C. Pulp & W. P. Co., has been confined to his bed for the past week with a slight attack of appendicitis.

Miss Dora Crutcheon of Merrill has been a guest at the Payne residence for the past three weeks, she returned home on Wednesday.

Little Roy Payne celebrated his seventh birthday, February 20th at the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Payne.

ARPIN.

The John Arpin Lumber company will probably complete their logging operations at this point this year. About eight million feet have been put in so far and the season's work will amount to about eleven millions. The season has been an ideal one for logging, as the entire winter has been without thaw enough to injure the roads. The mill will be able to saw all the logs at this point during the present year.

It is probable that the new town of Arpin will purchase the opera house in this village and use it for a town hall. The building is a very good structure for the purpose, and in fact will answer all the requirements of a town house. The building is 28x50 and furnished with a stage.

J. F. Passer has sold his farm at this point to George Altman of Monroe. The farm contained eighty acres. Mr. Passer will probably go to farming again.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Passer were in Grand Rapids Monday.

Martin Beyer was in Grand Rapids Tuesday on business.

PORT EDWARDS.

Mrs. H. H. Voss and Miss Perry of Grand Rapids and the Misses Fitch of Tomah spent Saturday afternoon at the Geo. B. Brazeau home.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Wenzel departed for Milwaukee Wednesday where Mrs. Wenzel is to receive medical treatment.

Miss Margaret Nash, and Mrs. Jas. Vaughn of Marshfield were visitors at the E. B. Garrison home this week.

An expert machinist from the Filer Stowell Co., Milwaukee, was here lining up the engines this week.

Mrs. Geo. B. and Edw. Brazeau were Nekoosa visitors Wednesday and Thursday.

Rev. W. A. Peterson of your city spent Tuesday afternoon among friends here.

Mrs. Henry Letendre is visiting her daughter Mrs. Win. Corriveau of your city.

Miss Loretta Cleveland spent Sunday at Nekoosa visiting relatives and friends.

Drs. Ridgman and Boorman made professional calls in town this week.

Miss Harriet Whitlesey was a guest of her brother, Chas. over Sunday.

The Ladies Aid Society met with Mrs. W. A. Brazeau this week.

Miss Fanny Burrows visited friends at Grand Rapids this week.

Sheriff McLaughlin was here between trains Tuesday.

NEKOOSA.

A large number of friends spent a very enjoyable evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. U. Marvin on Saturday evening, the occasion being the 15th anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin. A fine piece of cut glass in the shape of a salad bowl was presented to Mr. and Mrs. Marvin.

The infant girl of Mr. and Mrs. August Belger died on Tuesday. The little girl was only four months old. The funeral occurred on Thursday.

The Modern Woodmen of America are preparing for a grand ball on the evening of March 16; a sort of a celebration of St. Patrick's day.

O. Mickelson of Grand Rapids was in the city the forepart of the week taking orders for suits.

Will Granger of your city took in the dance here last Friday night.

WRECK ON THE ST. PAUL.

Four People Injured in a Derailment
Friday.

As we go to press today the report
comes of a wreck on the St. Paul road
between Pittsville and Hansen, the
accident occurring at about 12 o'clock,
by the coach being derailed and tipped
over. The injured are:

Frank Smith, Pittsville, several
severe bruises about head and shoulders, severely injured.

Mrs. Shumway, Marshfield, collar
bone broken and shoulder bruised.

A. L. Curing, Pittsville, badly
bruised but no bones broken.

Fred Wright, brakeman, Babcock,
badly bruised but no bones broken.

The accident was caused by a car
of lumber jumping the track, taking
the passenger coach off with it and
tipping the coach over.

Medical aid was sent out from Pitts-
ville and later the injured ones were
taken to that city for treatment.

A Poor Relation.

It is a marvelous stage creation that
can keep an audience of play goers on
the verge of tears for two hours and a
half and preserve them from weeping
simply by making them laugh. Such
is the character of Noah Vale in Sol.
Smith Russell's charming play "A Poor Relation" which comes to the
opera house next Wednesday night.
It is essentially a role that appeals to
the sympathies at times deeply; and
being delineated with such exquisite
finish by Frank Keenan, a comedian
whose methods are peculiarly adapted
to the character, it is no wonder that
the play that frames its setting has
become a household word for all that
is clean and wholesome on the Ameri-
can stage. Manager Fred G. Berger
carries the same scenery, properties,
etc. used by Mr. Russell himself and a
company superior to any that has yet
appeared in the piece, including Misses
Veta Henderson, Kate Long, Fanny
Barry Sprague, Katherine Dooling
and the two children "Rip" and
"Patch" and Messrs. Geo. R. Sprague
Geo. B. Miller, Marcus Moriarty, John
Cumberland and Chas. Euman.

Rebellion Survivors.

It is now forty years since the breaking out of the rebellion. In April,
1861, the southern states began to pass
secession resolutions and to prepare
to maintain a separate government.
The first call of Father Abraham was
for 75,000 ninety-day men. Of this number Wisconsin furnished 1,100.
Of this eleven hundred men 168 are
living today. Four of the one hundred sixty-eight live in Merrill. They are Herman Walther, F. A. Gibson,
James Ingersoll and Levy Ennis.

The Merrill survivors are contem-
plating getting up a reunion this
spring and if any reader of this article
knows of any soldier who was among
those who responded to Lincoln's
75,000 call, they will confer a favor
by writing to Herman Walther,
Merrill, Wis.

July 2, 1861, the first Wisconsin man
fell, killed at the battle of Falling Waters, Virginia. This was the beginning of the bloodiest war of the nineteenth century.—Merrill Advo-
cate.

More Blooded Stock.

While in Canada last week William
Scott purchased seven more head of
full blooded short horn cattle, six cows
and a bull. The cows arrived on Monday and the bull on Wednesday. The
latter is not yet two years old but it
weighs 1450 pounds and there is every
indication that it will weigh 2000
pounds when it has attained its full
growth. It is a fine animal and many
lovers of fine stock have visited Mr.
Scott's farm north of the city to admire his herd of shorthorns, which
now consists of fifteen thoroughbreds.

Wood County Won.

The case of Juneau County vs. Wood
County which was tried in supreme
court at Madison in January was decided in favor of Wood County.

Judge Webb had previously decided
for Wood County and his decision was
affirmed by the higher court.

The case was brought to recover
money spent for the support of Charles
Spies who has resided in Juneau
County for some time, but formerly
lived here. The court held that Spies
had never gained a residence here as he
had been a pauper all the time he was
here, he having received aid from the
soldiers relief fund. District attorney
Wiperman conducted the case before
the supreme court.

Base Ball Circuit.

An effort is being made at Wausau
to organize a baseball circuit to include the towns of Wausau, Merrill,
Tomahawk, Marshfield, Grand Rapids,
Stevens Point, Antigo and Rhine-
lander. An organization has already been perfected at Wausau and correspondence opened with other towns
mentioned above and it is thought
there will be no trouble in forming the
circuit, as several of the towns have
already expressed a willingness to go
in.

EDWARD LYNCH.

Card of Thanks.

Joseph Rick takes this method of
thanking those who so kindly assisted
during the sickness and after the
death of his beloved daughter,
Christina.

Death of Christina Rick.

On Saturday morning at three
o'clock the messenger of death entered the household of Joseph
Rick and carried his daughter
to that bonar from whence no traveler returns. The girl had suffered great pain for about two weeks and
death was no doubt a great relief from acute suffering. She was first prostrated with pneumonia and before she
had fairly recovered it was found
necessary to perform an operation
for peritonitis, on which occasion
one of the bones of the forearm was
removed. Altogether it seemed that
the strain was more than she could stand and she passed away on Saturday.

Christina was 15 years of age on
the 18th of last December, and was a
bright, energetic young lady just bloss-
oming into womanhood.

The funeral was held on Monday
and the remains interred in the Catholic cemetery, Rev. Van Roosmalen
performing the last sad rites.

APPRAISERS APPOINTED.

Men Now at Work Considering
Value of Condemned Property.

On Saturday Judge Webb appointed
as appraisers for the property desired
for the new railroad Messrs. Jacob
Searles, Archie McMillan and
William White. These gentlemen
started in on their work on Tuesday
and it is expected that they will be
through with everything in something
like two weeks.

On the 15th instant there will be a
meeting of the appraisers before
which property holders who are interested may appear and give their
ideas as to the value of their property.

The appraisers will visit every
piece of property upon which condem-
nation proceedings have been begun
and by personal observation attempt
to give everybody concerned a square
deal.

The appraisers have only been working on the land to be used for the
main line of the road to and into this
city, the property below here having

Revenge on the Cow.

On Wednesday night at a late hour
Mrs. Ed. Bonham was awakened by
some person or persons knocking at
the door of her house. As Mr. Bon-
ham was not at home and the hour
was very late Mrs. Bonham did not
open the door to the visitors and after
a time they left without making known
their identity. The next morning it
was discovered that some person had
visited the barn during the night and
poured some sort of acid over the cow,
burning the skin off the animal in a long streak along its back. The horse
also bore evidence of having been
struck over the head with some blunt
instrument and wounded. Who it was
that performed such a cowardly act
cannot be imagined by Mrs. Bonham
although it is thought that it was the
work of the same parties who tried to
gain admission to the house and that
had they succeeded in getting some-
one to the door they would have
thrown the acid on them.

High School Notes.

Don't forget the illustrated lecture
"A Trip through Chicago," at the
high room next Friday evening,
March 8, for the benefit of the Forum,
admission 10 cents. This program
was advertised for last Friday evening but owing to the delay in the arrival of the slides it had to be pos-
poned. Remember the date, March 8.

Four weeks more of school, then one
week of pleasure and then eight weeks
to end of school term. Things begin
to look more serious to the Senior
class. A few, who have not been
grinding very hard so far, are seen
with set faces and four to five books
under their arms.

day noon for Marinette to attend an
Epworth League State convention
which was held there. She returned
Monday evening.

Mr. Hambrecht left Sunday night
for Chicago in the interests of the
school. He is expected back next Sunday morning.

Some of the west side high school
pupils are absent from school having
a swell time. Reason is an attack of
mumps.

As usual this has been the quietest
week of school owing to examinations
which began Wednesday noon.

Edgar Kellogg and Charles Jenkins
visited school on the west side
Wednesday afternoon.

No Forum to-night on account of examinations.

LOOKS LIKE A SALE.

Indications that the M. & S. E. has
Been Bought by Northwestern.

On Tuesday W. K. Cook, who had
been looking after the interests of the Northwestern road in this section and
buying right of way, received a telegram from his company calling him
to Milwaukee, and also instructing
him not to take deeds on any more
right of way between this city and Nekoosa.

While nothing was said concerning
the Port Edwards road, everybody
who has followed the operations of the
company here feel that these instructions have but one significance and
that is, that the Northwestern company has closed the deal by which they gain the possession of the Marsh-
field and Southeastern.

Probably no one thing has caused
so much discussion since the North-
western road first intimated that they
were going to build to this point as to whether they intended to buy the Marshfield road. Everyone seemed
to think that it would be the simplest
move for the company and greatly
expedite matters in the way of securing right of way privileges, and matters of a similar nature.

It was thought by many that the
owner of the Marshfield road had received an offer from the Wisconsin
Central and that the probabilities were
that the Central intended getting pos-
session of the road in order to shorten
their line between Chicago and St.
Paul, the same as the Northwestern
company is doing.

Mr. Roberts stated, however, during an interview on Thursday that he
was continuing the work of buying
right of way between this city and Marshfield and that he did not consider
that Mr. Cook's withdrawal had any
bearing on the case. He did not state
positively, however, that he knew that
the Northwestern had not bought the Marshfield road but expressed it as
his belief that they had not.

Asks City's Aid.

It is probable that the Electric &
Water company will request the city
to take charge of the waterworks
matter and issue municipal bonds for
the building of the system. This was found advisable when Messrs. Wood
and Gaynor visited the city where it
was expected to negotiate the bonds
and found that the rate for money
was considerably higher when secured
by corporation paper than by municipal bonds. The scheme would be for
the city to own the plant and the electric company furnish the power to
operate it.

A FORTUNE AT STAKE.

Heirs of Samuel Howard Oppose the Orphan Asylum Measure.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 26.—[Special.]—Another chapter in the contest over the estate of the late Samuel Howard has been opened here in the Legislature. Its opening was signaled by the appearance of Attorney A. E. Bleckman of La Crosse, representing the heirs of Mr. Howard, in opposition to a bill introduced in the Milwaukee orphan asylum. It is a bill which was introduced by Senator Roehr and is known as No. 70 S. It has already passed the Senate and has been in the hands of the Assembly Judiciary committee since February 15. Mr. Bleckman is here to attempt to kill it in the Assembly. It will be remembered that Mr. Howard left his fortune of more than $200,000 to the Milwaukee orphan asylum, subject to the life interest of his sister, and put a clause in his will providing that in the event of the corporation being dissolved, the estate was to go to his heirs-at-law. That clause has been the basis of the contest in the Legislature. The bill would alter the legal status of the Milwaukee orphan asylum. That doubt was created by the revisers of the statutes in 1898. In making amendments to the laws they practically repealed the act incorporating the orphan asylum and left that institution without its legal existence could be questioned.

Senator Roehr's bill was introduced to correct that defect, and now Mr. Bleckman maintains that, whether so intended or not, it cuts off the rights of the Howard heirs to the bulk of the estate. It has been the contention of the heirs that the repeal of the act of incorporation destroyed the asylum's legal existence, and that therefore it could not accept the property left it. Mr. Bleckman's contention will no doubt be that action cannot be passed which will affect pending litigation and that the bill must be killed. If it is passed, it will be tested in the courts as a part of the contest over Mr. Howard's will.

Senator Roehr says that in his opinion the bill has no bearing on the Howard matter, and that it should pass whether it is or not. He maintains that it is not at all certain that the asylum has been robbed of its legal existence by the act of revisers, but that if since there is a question about it, all doubt should be removed by a curative act such as he proposes. It is a worthy institution, he says, and may be made the recipient of many bequests in the future, and there should be no doubt about its ability to receive such bequests.

The matter is being aired before the Assembly Judiciary committee this afternoon, and whatever view the committee may take, the matter is likely to be the subject of a contest on the floor.

Surprise for Policy-Holders in Fire Insurance Company.

Glenwood, Wis., Feb. 26.—During the last week or two a well-known mutual fire insurance company of Minneapolis has been writing through local agents many policies on all classes of insurable property, both for fire and tornado. Being a non-profit company, it made a considerable gain in rates. A few days ago the policy-holders began receiving notice that pursuant to the statutes of Minnesota the board of directors had ordered an assessment, needed to pay its incurred losses and expenses, that the policy-holder amount in some cases equal and in other cases more than the amount paid originally as the premium. Notice was given that if the assessment was not paid within thirty days the policy would become suspended.

PRESIDENT EATON OF BELOIT RESIGNS.

Trustees Seek to Induce Him to Take Prolonged Vacation and Retain Position.

Chicago, Ill., Feb. 26.—After fifteen years' service as president of Beloit college, Dr. Edward D. Eaton tendered his resignation, and it was accepted at a meeting of the board of trustees held at the Union League club last night. The resignation takes effect at the end of the present school year.

Efforts were made by the trustees to induce President Eaton to take an indefinite vacation and retain his position, but he replied that he felt he had remained with the institution until it was in such condition that another could take hold and direct its affairs. President Eaton leaves tonight for Mexico, where he will remain indefinitely. He was voted a vacation until the end of the school year. If his health improves he expects to return to the ministry, which he left fifteen years ago, when he was elected president of Beloit. Universal respect was expressed by the twenty-one trustees present over his determination to resign, but they took the position that after his long service his health should be his first consideration. A committee consisting of President Eaton, E. H. Pitkin and H. S. Osborne was appointed to select a successor.

Reports were made by the trustees that large additions had been made to the $500,000 endowment fund, and that there remained little doubt that the fund would be secured by the end of June.

ADA ARLINGTON IS FOUND NOT GUILTY.

Acquitted of the Murder of John Resburg—Charge Against Bee-mer Dismissed.

West Superior, Wis., Feb. 26.—Ada Arlington was last evening found not guilty of the murder of John Resburg. The defense had put in a strong claim of justification, and this evidence seemed conclusive and predominant. Bee-mer, the man who with the woman was accused of the crime, was released upon motion of the district attorney. Resburg was killed at Ada Arlington's shack on July 4 last. Bee-mer was with her at the time and he was held as a witness, and later for the crime. When he was discharged he drew $200 witness fees, having been held in jail since that time.

DECLARE A BOYCOTT.

Brown County Contractors Refuse to Bid on Catholic School Building.

Green Bay, Wis., Feb. 26.—[Special.]—The Brown County Contractors and Builders' association, an organization including forty of the leading and most responsible firms and individuals engaged in various branches of the building business in Brown county, has declared a form of lockout or boycott that is without precedent in the history of the county. The plan was to refuse to work on any building, not against workmen. According to a resolution recently adopted, members of the association will refuse to submit proposals on jobs on which contractors and builders who do not belong to the association are permitted to compete.

The first test case was declared last evening and the light will involve a schoolhouse which is to be erected for St. Peter's and Paul's Catholic church in this city. Following an established custom, the architect who prepared the plans came across the city this evening to exhibit and explain the drawings and specifications. He was told that an agreement had been made to test the recently adopted resolution against non-members and that none of the association members would submit bids on the schoolhouse. The plan was to be taken without being exhibited. Rev. M. T. Anderson, pastor of the church, was greatly astonished when informed of the action of the association, and was unable to state what course the building committee representing the church will pursue under the circumstances. The schoolhouse represents practically all of the reputable builders of the city, including also quarry owners and planing-mill men.

Antioch, Wis., Feb. 26.—The cannery of John H. Menting in the town of Ackley, nine miles west of here, burned to the ground. Loss, $4000; insurance, $2000. It will probably be rebuilt.

TO IMPROVE LA CROSSE.

Company to be Organized to Bring New Industries to City.

La Crosse, Wis., Feb. 26.—[Special.]—The La Crosse Improvement company, which was organized a few years ago, has been revived. The plan is to organize a stock company and issue stock to the amount of $100,000, consisting of shares of $100. The company is to be organized to attract local enterprises which may be in need of it, and to assist in bringing new industries to the city. There has been considerable talk of starting a furniture company here and this project will be taken up if the present plans go through. The board of trade is back of the movement, and a meeting of the directors was held last night to start the ball rolling.

San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 25.—Death came swiftly to nearly 130 persons when the fine Pacific mail steamship Rio de Janeiro struck on a reef outside the Golden Gate and sank within a few minutes.

Of the 209 souls on board but eighty-one were saved. Ten bodies have been washed ashore. Against all the rest of the names on the roster of passengers and crew is placed the word "missing."

Now Out of Sight.

The wreck which for a while hung on a pinnacle of the rock where she struck, so that parts of her upper works were visible, has slid off into deep water and is now entirely out of sight.

Fort Point, where Pilot Jordan claims the vessel struck, marks the narrowest point of the entrance to the bay and is usually given a wide berth by mariners. The tide here runs very swiftly and at times has a swirling motion. Off Fort Point lie several sunken rocks forming a dangerous ledge on the southern edge of the fair way channel of the Golden Gate, and the vessel struck on the rocks. There is a light on top of the fort and a fog bell, but the latter cannot be heard far when a westerly wind is blowing.

Capt. Frederick W. Jordan, the pilot who was in charge of the Rio de Janeiro when she went on the reef and sank, is a man a little past middle life and has been a master mariner on this coast for over twenty years. He came from the Atlantic coast. Previous to being appointed a pilot about twelve years ago, Jordan was in command of the Wallingford, Bristol and other colliers still plying between this port and Puget sound. He was a remarkably successful navigator and never before had any notable misfortune.

Drifted in the Fog.

He declares that the loss of the steamer could not have been foreseen. According to his story the vessel drifted half a mile broadside in the fog that enveloped the coast about midnight. A pilot and no man could have judged either the direction or the velocity of the invisible current that changed her course and sent her on the Fort Point ledge.

Freight clerk G. J. Englehart, of the Rio de Janeiro, who was saved, said: "The report that Capt. Ward looked himself in his cabin must be untrue. The last I saw of Capt. Ward he was standing on the bridge and was tying the rope of the whistle to the rail. This was to keep the whistle blowing all the time. I am sure that the ship sank so quickly that Capt. Ward did not have time to reach the cabin."

Scenes of Wild Confusion.

Acts of heroism and of cowardice, scenes of wildest grief and confusion, wild struggles of men and women and brave and calm, though futile, efforts of the stronger minded to allay fears and save life, were enacted in the awful five minutes it took the Rio de Janeiro to be swallowed in the lashing sea. Most of the boats that were lowered were stove in and the occupants drowned. Most of the survivors came ashore with life preservers or on rafts of furniture and wreckage.

At 5 o'clock in the morning when the ship crashed into the hidden mile rock, just south of Fort Point and North Head. Most of the passengers were below deck at the time and many of these were undoubtedly drowned in their berths.

Vessel Held Back by Fog.

The Rio de Janeiro arrived off the Heads Thursday night, but the dense fog prevailing at the time induced Pilot Jordan to turn her to anchor until he could see his way clear through the gateway. It was about 4:30 o'clock the following morning when the atmosphere cleared and she was started under a slow head wind. Scarcely an hour later the wreck on the treacherous rocks and most of her passengers and crew had perished. It is the most appalling disaster this coast has known for many years. Most of the bodies of 128 and more victims are at the bottom of the sea and many of them may never be recovered. The water where the ship lies is deep and the current swift and the dead with most of the wreckage probably will be carried far out into the Pacific. The number of lives lost may never be known exactly, owing to the fact that the ship's records were lost and it is practically impossible to tell just how many Chinese were in the steerage.

The Latest Figures.

REPORT OF SPECIAL COMMITTEE APPOINTED TO CHECK UP ACCOUNTS OF RETIRING COUNTY OFFICERS.

To the Finance committee of the County Board of Supervisors of Wood County, Wisconsin.

Gentlemen: We the undersigned, Orrin Gray, A. N. Palmer and J. E. Philcox, engaged by Wm. Hooper, chairman of your Finance committee, to examine and check up the records, accounts and vouchers of the retiring county officers for the years of 1899 and 1900, do hereby respectfully submit the following report:

After a thorough and careful examination and investigation of the tax certificates, records and vouchers in the office of the county treasurer, extending in time from the 7th to the 18th day of January, 1901, we have found and determined that the receipts and disbursements of that office for the year commencing January 2, 1899, and ending January 7, 1901, are as shown as per statement marked Exhibit A. hereto annexed

and made a part of this report. Also the "certificate account" in the office of the county treasurer for the same term is as shown in statement marked Exhibit B. hereto annexed and made a part of this report.

We have carefully compared the tax rolls of the several towns, cities and villages of Wood County, for taxes of 1898 and 1899 with the returns of delinquent taxes as made by the treasurers of the several towns, cities and villages. We have also compared said returns with the Delinquent Land books for the years 1898 and 1899 and found the same to have been correct.

We have compared the county orders paid by the county treasurer with the corresponding "stubs" in the office of the county clerk, and have also compared the witness, jurors and court certificates paid by said county treasurer with the corresponding "stubs" in the office of the clerk of the court and found them all to agree and correspond. We have cancelled all such county orders, court certificates and orders paid by said treasurer from Jan. 2, 1899 to Jan. 7, 1901, on the "stubs" and "records" kept of all such orders, marking them "cancelled Jan. 25, 1901."

The total amount of such orders and certificates paid during said term of office and cancelled by us is as follows:

County orders.....$784.97
Court orders.....252.50
Jurors certificates.....229.44
Witness certificates.....47.56
Jail bonds and coupons.....6450.00

Total.....$9732.77

Said above orders, certificates, bonds and coupons are all listed in the office of the county treasurer.

We find the following amounts due state of Wisconsin:

Suit tax.....$ 31.60
Fines.....220.00

We also find as per Exhibit 1, amounts due

Towns on delinquent.....$ 294.29
Delinquents held in trust for towns.....2567.10

A Poor Relation.

There is sure to be an immense audience at the opera house on Wednesday evening, March 6th, to see the famous Sol. Smith Russell play "A Poor Relation." It is a rare chance for the playgoers of this city to see a charming play enacted by a very superior company of artists. It is easy to understand why "A Poor Relation" has become one of the most popular plays ever written. The part of Noah Vale that is marvellously consistent in the sunshine and shadow of the circumstances through which it passes. Never was pathos so deftly and delicately limned in comedy as in this character. There is already great interest aroused in the community by the announcement of the coming of this attraction.

Night Was Her Terror.

"I would cough nearly all night long," writes Mrs. Chas. Applegate, of Alexandria, Ind., and could hardly get any sleep. I had consumption so bad that if I walked a block I would cough frightfully and spit blood, but when all other medicines failed, three $1.00 bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery wholly cured me and I gained 58 pounds." It's absolutely guaranteed to cure Coughs, Cold, La Grippe, Bronchitis and all Throat and Lung Troubles. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at Johnson Hill & Co. and John E. Daly.

Roosevelt," and "The Author's Reading at Bixby Centre," by Kate Douglas Wiggin will have a wide reading in the March Ladies' Home Journal. And "The Gibson Play," too. It accentuates the satirical humor of Charles Dana Gibson's "Widow and Her Friends" in a two-act comedy by Marguerite Merington. The illustrations by Mr. Gibson are characteristic and interesting. Edward Bok's editorials and Helen Witterson Moody's "Girls Who Go In for Something" are helpful in counsel, and will be profitably read. "The Story of a Young man" is completed in the March Journal, and "The Successors of Mary the First" presents new and extremely funny complications and vexations. A good share of space is devoted to Easter fashions in feminine attire, and there are articles on cooking, china painting, "A Successful Country House at Bryn Mawr," "A Suburban House for $6,500," a page picture showing, "The Old Stage and the Turpike," of W. L. Taylor's "The Last Hundred Years in New England" series, and "Through Picturesque America"—two pages of photographs of views in Cuba and Porto Rico. A feature of the March Journal is Eugene Field's "Armenian Lullaby," set to music. By The Curtis Publishing Company, Philadelphia. One dollar a year; ten cents a copy.

A Horrible Outbreak.

"Of large sores on my little daughter's head developed into a case of scald head" writes C. D. Isbill of Morganton, Tenn., but Bucklen's Arnica Salve completely cured her. It's a guaranteed cure for Eczema, Tetter, Sault Rheum, Pimples, Sores, Ulcers and Piles. Only 50 cents at Johnson Hill & Co. and John E. Daly.

"The money order system is a Bank Deposit."

The business in the Money Order Department shows a greater increase in volume than even that of the postal receipts. The post office department is constantly devising means to bring the money order business closer to the great mass of people. The changes that have been instituted during the past year have served to so popularize this branch of service that its business is increasing wonderfully.

Post Office Banking.

The money order department of the post office is now in effect a bank deposit. In fact, the post offices in many of the cities are in a measure the people's banks. The Government as a bank has one great and overshadowing advantage over private institutions—it is absolutely safe. Banks can fail, but the Government is as solid as a rock. Money once deposited in Uncle Sam's bank is safe as long as Uncle Sam lives. The deposit may remain in the Money Order Department for many years, but the receipt is good always. Money order receipts do not grow stale, as bank checks do. One who has money to deposit can go to the post office, fill out an application, making the order payable to himself. The money goes into the funds of the Government and the depositor gets the receipt showing the amount he has deposited in the post office. The receipt takes the place of the certificate of deposit received by one who puts money in the bank, but of course bears no interest. When the depositor wishes to withdraw his account he may do so by presenting his money order. A money order may be used, too, like a check. A man who holds an order payable to himself may pay a bill with it as he would a bank check. A money order is negotiable paper and the holder may endorse it over to any one to whom he wishes to pay money and this person may take the order to the post office and receive cash for it. The only restriction is that money orders can only be endorsed to one person. This privilege of making a money order payable to self or any one in the same city in which it is purchased was granted by the Government only last fall and it is this new system which makes it possible for the people to use the money order department as a depository for their savings.

One can send a money order to almost any foreign country now. Orders have recently been sent by persons in this city to friends in far away Palestine and to Russia, to which latter country system was extended a few months ago.

"This is a dangerous business."
"Not so much so as it appears to be."
"I'm afraid that you'll find that it is."
"By no means. After altering a single date, I shall cause it to be restored to the place it was taken from."

"What benefit to you can the alteration be? I can see none."
"I will tell you. One of the letters I received yesterday was from my Aunt Dermont, who, after the death of Mr. Burlington's wife, presided over his household. She mentioned that a will, by which Mr. Burlington left me the whole of his property, a few lines were expected, and dated June 8, 1636, had recently come to light. I at once recollected that this one was written exactly three years later, to a day."

"Rather a singular coincidence, I should think, that both wills should be written the same month and the same day of the month."
"Both singular and fortunate. A slight erasure, and a single stroke of the pen will make the nine a six."

"True, but an alteration which must be so delicately made as to defy detection, will require a cunning as well as a careful hand."

"Two requisites which mine isn't deficient in. Judge for yourself."

As he finished speaking he took another parchment from his pocket, unrolled it and handed it to Mildred.

"You didn't tell me that your Aunt Dermont not only mentioned the will, but sent it."

"I should made up my mind then whether to show it to you or not. Look at the date."

"I thought you said it was dated 1636."

"So it was, when I received it."

"Can it be possible that the figure nine which I see here so fairly inscribed was a six?"

"It can be."

"But you don't count on receiving any immediate benefit for your trouble."

"Whether I do or do not must depend on circumstances. I must put things in train, so that if I don't win the bride, I may secure the fortune. If we succeed in estranging Alice and Harleigh I think that I am neither so ill-favored that patience and perseverance will not finally bring her to listen to my suit."

"In which case, neither of the wills will be of any value to you."

"No; but if, on the other hand, Harleigh should marry her, he will find that instead of the rich heiress he expected, that a hundred acres in the very heart of the wilderness is his bride's only dower."

"The time will never come when Alice Dale will be Clarence Harleigh's bride. Swift and sure agents must be made use of to prevent it, should others fail. You will return to England the first opportunity that offers?"

"Yes."

"I will go at the same time."

"That is right. To remain here among bears and savages, and worst of all, Puritans, if nothing is to be gained by it, is what I should have no fancy for."

CHAPTER X.

Clarence Harleigh, during the first three or four weeks after his arrival in England, had, with one or two exceptions, absented himself from court. No doubt, he felt that the companionship of such men as Rochester, Buckhurst, Harry Jermyn, a mere butterfly, Killigrew, the graceful, insolent and showy Duke of Buckingham, with scores of others whose vices outnumbered their virtues, would not encourage him, either by precept or example, to pass through his two years' probation in a manner to satisfy his severe and exacting judge.

A dozen or more courtiers were grouped together in the banquet hall, through which, only a few years previously, Charles I. had passed to the scaffold, clanking on various subjects, some of them pretty liberally seasoned with court scandal, to pass away the interim which would elapse previously to the entrance of the king.

"Will Harleigh be here this evening?" said one of them, addressing Harry Jermyn.

"I believe he has graciously condescended to give his promise to that effect," was the reply. "I understand now why the bright glances of a certain lady's eyes might as well fall on an iceberg."

"How came you to be enlightened?" inquired the first speaker.

"Lord Arran tells me that his obduracy must be laid to the charge of a little rustic he found in the new world."

"And what is more unaccountable still," said Killigrew, "Dance Rimmer says she is a Puritanist, and eschews all gay apparel than a sad-colored gown, a kerchief of cambric and pinners of the same."

"And so stiff with starch," said another. "I venture to say that, like the enormous ruffs worn by Queen Bess, they would stand alone."

"I shouldn't wonder," said Killigrew, "if Harleigh should turn to be a Puritan himself."

"Nor I," said Jermyn. "I have suspected he had a leaning that way ever since he returned from the provinces."

"I advise you," said Killigrew, "to be on your guard, so as not to manifest any surprise should he make his appearance here this evening with his hair cropped after the fashion of the Roundheads."

"And wearing a steple-crowned hat and a sad-colored doublet to match his lady love's gown," said Harry Jermyn, who probably being reminded of his own well-fitting purport of rich purple velvet, with a silk embroidered handkerchief, which sent a faint odor of musk through the room as he drew it from his pocket, he brushed away a particle or two of the glistening powder, which had been used to heighten the luster of his long, wavy hair, from one of the sleeves.

At this moment the entrance of Harleigh in a dress whose richness and elegance accorded well with his manly and somewhat haughty style of beauty, caused a smile to curl the lip of Buckingham. Almost at the same moment the king made his entrance by a different door. He advanced towards the group in an easy, familiar manner, for many of those composing it had been his companions, not only in many a hair-breadth escape, but in numberless wild adventures and mad frolics, during his years of exile. While noticing those present with a grace and good humor natural to him, a slight disturbance attracted attention towards the door by which Harleigh had found ingress, and, at last, rising high above suppressed words of remonstrance, were heard these words:

"I must go in, for I am the bearer of something for his majesty which my wife Margery has for many a year preserved as the apple of her eye, giving it a place in a box of polished maple, the whole time, by the side of her best headgear."

"Neither the permission nor the order is necessary," said Charles, laughing, as the usher stepped hastily forward, a stout-built yeoman following close to his heels, with his broad, round face a good deal flushed from excitement.

A word from Buckingham caused the usher to fall back, while, with firmly planted steps, the man made his way towards the spot where the king stood.

When arrived within a short distance of him, happening to catch sight of the Duke of Buckingham, he stopped with a puzzled air, and scratching his head to assist his memory, alternately regarded the king and the duke.

"I should say that this was the king," said he, in a low tone to himself, fixing his eyes on Charles, "though the other one is dressed such a nation dead fiver."

"Wiser heads than his have supposed that the divinity that doth hedge a king is made of no better stuff than laces, ribbons and jewels, so don't be puffed up, George," said Charles, addressing Buckingham, who, like himself, was infinitely diverted at the man's mystification.

Another look, longer and more searching than the others had been, appeared to overcome any lingering doubt, and approaching Charles more nearly, he knelt at his feet, at the same time hugging a parcel, round which was wrapped a snowy napkin, closely to his breast.

"What is your wish, my good friend?" said Charles.

"It is only that your majesty," and he busied himself with undoing the napkin, as he spoke, "would graciously please to accept this currier-comb."

"Odds-fish, man! better give it to my groom."

"Not for a gold ducat," said the man, "would I again have it touch her majesty's hair."

"Why, there's nothing dangerous about it, I hope?" said Charles.

"No; an' please your majesty, but it would be puttin' a slight on my good Dame Margery, who has kept it in the maple box with her best headgear ever since I carried the bay mare with it that carried your majesty beyond the reach of those who were seeking for you."

"Let me see," said Charles, adjusting his periwig. "I think I have some recollection of a bay mare that served me, on a certain occasion, which might have claimed kindred with the wind, as far as speed was concerned, and it was well for me that it was so. A dozen blood-thirsty dragoons kept me in sight for ten minutes or more, then all but one began to lag, and it wasn't long before he followed his example."

"Her name was Speedyfoot, please your majesty."

"She was well named. Yours is Hendrick Dykes?"

"It is, please your majesty."

"It does please me, and that right well, to meet you in a place where, at the time you did me such good service, there appeared little chance of my ever being admitted. I thought, at the moment of your entrance, I had seen that honest face before," said Charles. Then speaking to some one in attendance, he gave orders that Hendrick should be provided with refreshment and lodging, while, turning to Hendrick himself, he charged him not to go away in the morning till he had either seen or heard from him.

"I thought," said Harleigh, who, with two or three others, was standing a little apart, "that Gilbert Falkland was to be here this evening."

"So he is," said he whom he addressed. "I shouldn't wonder if, instead of being lined with gold, which would enable him to resume with fresh spirit his old habits of luxury, his pockets were found to contain nothing better than a few worthless grants signed with the mark of some Indian chief, wilder than his lands."

He had hardly finished speaking when Falkland made his appearance.

"Ah, here is my patient, fresh from the new world," said Charles, cordially giving him his hand. "I heartily welcome you back to merry England, even if you are the owner of as many acres as are contained in my United Kingdoms."

"I can assure your majesty," said Falkland, "that there would be ample space for my domain between the Thames and the Tweed, the whole of which is not worth the space shaded by the Royal Oak. When the grim old Puritans called that part of the world a howling wilderness, they couldn't have hit on a more appropriate appellation, it being inhabited chiefly by bears and wolves."

"I heartily expected," said Killigrew, addressing Falkland, "that, during your absence, you would espouse the red-skinned daughter of some Indian chief, and bring her here to illumine and enliven the court, with the jewels in her nose and the bells round her ankles."

"I have seen an Indian maiden," replied he, "whose brilliant eyes would shame the rarest diamonds ever dug from the mines of Golconda; I wouldn't except even this splendid jewel."

As he spoke, he tossed upon the table the opal filched by Mildred Dacres from Alice Dale, which in its descent, secured

ed to flash with every hue of the rich and tempting fruits and sparkling wines ranged near. At sight of it, Harleigh's face flushed crimson. The next minute the blood receded, leaving lip and cheek as pale as death.

"A low, low! I'll be bound: is it not, Falkland?" said Harry Jermyn.

Falkland smiled, but made no reply.

"I think I've seen this gem before to-day," said Buckingham, taking it up and examining it. "I thought I wasn't mistaken. It is the one, Harleigh, you purchased at Lingard's, previously to your going to America."

"I don't pretend to say when or where it was purchased," said Falkland. "The first and the last time I ever saw it, till I could call it my own, it adorned the neck of one more beautiful and bewitching than the most celebrated of the beauties of Windsor, portrayed by Sir Peter Lely's pencil."

"You had better mind how you let the little Castlemaine, and some others, hear you compare your forest beauties with those of the court," said the Duke of Buckingham.

"Has this little wood nymph of yours a red skin?" inquired Killigrew of Falkland.

"Yes, as red as the freshest rose in June, save where the empire of that queenly flower is disputed by its sister, the lily."

"Her name?" said Charles, beginning to be interested in Falkland's somewhat high-sounding description.

"Alice Dale."

"What! the daughter of Reginald Dale, who, I've been told, a short time before his decease, caused that stiff old Puritan, Nathan Walworth, to be appointed her guardian?"

"The same, your majesty."

"And he soon afterward emigrated to America?"

"He did."

"I remember him well," said the Earl of Arran. "He served under Cromwell, as a captain of dragoons, that used to stable their horses in the stalls of the cathedrals."

"If I mistake not," said Buckingham, "one Burlington, who owned a princely estate in Wiltshire, was the fair damsel's uncle, that Falkland is in such raptures about."

"He was," said Arran.

"It is she, then, who stands in your light?" said Harry Jermyn.

"That is not quite clear," replied Falkland.

"True, if you marry her. It will then be much the same as if old Burlington had made you his heir, which, I've heard he once contemplated."

Meanwhile, Harleigh had remained silent, though with compressed lips and flashing eyes. He now drew Falkland a little aside.

"Dare you say, on the word and honor of a gentleman, that Alice Dale gave you that opal?" he demanded.

"Till you make it appear by what right you ask the question, I will say nothing about it."

"By an Englishman's right."

"And by the same right I refuse to answer a question asked with so much arrogance."

"I am not in a mood, just now, to clothe my language in the garb of humility. I demand to know if Alice Dale gave you that opal of her own free will."

"It was freely given."

"It is false. She never gave it to you."

"What I have said is true."

"I shall not take your word."

"Let the sword decide it, then."

Charles, who had caught enough of what was said to understand by this time what was going forward, now interposed.

"You seem to forget," said he, "that this is neither a place nor a presence for lover's broils. Both of you will please consider yourselves under arrest—yours, Gilbert Falkland, for proposing to decide the question by the sword, and you, Clarence Harleigh, for provoking him to it. Remember that you leave this place for ready furnished lodgings in the Tower. But come," and his features relaxed into their usual good-humored expression, "we have already let our feast of fruits stand waiting till one might well deem it a feast for fools."

Saying thus, he took his place at the table, and the others, including Harleigh and Falkland, who dared not refuse, followed his example.

Children Must Laugh.

The sense of humor is a variable feast, undergoing different forms in reference to race, individual and society. If your little boy fails to respond with his tribute of childish merriment to your parental joke, that, depressing as at times it must be to you, does not seem to me a matter about which to lie awake nights, because, after all, dear Brutus, the fault may not be so much with the child as with the joke. If, however, little N. or M., as his catechism name may be, never makes his foolish little childish jests, never plays open tricks upon you, at which, by the same token, he expects you to laugh; if he never is mischievous, instinct with joyousness, with natural gaiety of heart and the sunshine of vigorous young animal life and spirits—then indeed, his condition is abnormal, or his environments all wrong, and you must find a speedy way to put him into a natural and smiling rapport with life. For laughter is a mere outlet for animal spirits is natural to man.

Playfulness we share with our furred and feathered brethren, but the audible expression of mirth is monopolized by man, the least natural of all the animals. It helps to differentiate him from the lower level of the monkey; it is one of the marks of his inferiority to the high spiritual gods.—Harper's Bazar.

Something Wrong.

"Now, John, see here," she began, with set jaw. "I must have $20 to-day."

"All right," said John promptly, "here it is."

"Goodness, John!" she exclaimed, peering visibly. "What's the matter? Aren't you well?"—Philadelphia Press.

MRS. NATION RELEASED.

Has Enough of Jail Life and Gives Bond to Keep Peace.

BLOODSHED AT TOPEKA

One Man Shot in Early Morning Raid on Wholesale Liquor House.

Topeka, Kas., Feb. 25.—Mrs. Nation has been released from the county jail on bond and at 5 a. m. today left for Peoria to act as editor of the Peoria Journal for one day. J. B. McCaffee of this city furnished bonds for Mrs. Nation's reappearance.

Topeka, Kas., Feb. 25.—Mrs. Carrie Nation was willing, a week ago, to suffer incarceration in jail, under the belief that she was doing good work for the temperance cause. She now believes that she could do more good outside, and in a letter to District Judge Hazen she gives her reasons for wanting immediate release.

Judge Hazen: I want you to quit your fooling and let me out here, so I can be in Peoria Monday morning. I am to edit the Journal, and get $150 and a good deal more for it. I am sure I can do it. I shall not feel like a ministering angel until it is time for you to recover your feet and your wits. You know you are persecuting one of God's children, who loves you for Jesus' sake. Now, you let me go out of here, and let me go about my business, trying to help some poor devil as you are. Your loving friend, CARRIE NATION.

P. S.—Write or come to see me right off.

Saloon of Boiler Iron.

Wichita, Kan., Feb. 25.—A small room made of boiler iron mounted on wheels has been ordered of an Eastern machine company by John Webster, referee-subpoenaed of Kansas. He will use the room as a saloon. Webster was the partner owner of one of the places smashed by Mrs. Nation early in her career, and he purposes providing something the crusaders cannot smash. Webster says he is going to locate his saloon at Florence, Kas., where he owns a lot that is suitable for the purpose. He will have a trap door in the floor of the room, and it will connect with an underground passage leading to a stable. Through the underground passage he will smuggle the liquor into the iron room.

MORE BLOODSHED.

One Man Shot in Raid on Liquor House at Topeka, Kan.

Topeka, Kas., Feb. 25.—A crowd of from thirty to sixty citizens armed with revolvers, sludge-hammers, crow-bars and a battering ram, broke into the wholesale liquor house of "Lash" Curtis, at midnight and smashed the beer found there. Three policemen drove the crowd back. Both the policemen and the citizens fired their revolvers and a crowd of about 50 men, who were shot twice in the breast. He is in a precarious condition.

Dr. M. K. Mitchell and Rev. F. W. Emerson were both arrested by the police. Rev. Emerson was booked under the charge of resisting an officer. He was allowed to go on his own recognizance. Dr. Mitchell took Adams to the hospital and was allowed to stay and administer to him, without giving bond. The three officers—Patrolmen Downey and Boyles and Private Watchman Conner—claim Adams was shot by his own crowd while he was retreating from the point of attack. Adams declares, however, that he was shot by a policeman.

Dr. Mitchell and Dr. Charles W. Hammond, who cared for Adams at the hospital, say that one shot took effect in the center of his chest and the other in the right shoulder. The bullets did not come out.

The liquor house is a small frame building. A lantern lighted up the interior, but it was accidentally extinguished and the work was done in the dark. Three men stood inside and passed the cases and kegs of beer to the men in the doorway, who threw them into the yard to be smashed. The crowd used heavy poles, axes and crowbars. The owners of the beer made no resistance.

Patrolman Boyles and Watchman Conner entered the yard and drove the crowd back. Before the officers arrived thirty cases and two kegs of beer had been smashed.

While the crowd was being driven back twenty or thirty shots were fired. When the crowd retreated to Jackson street the officers were near the building, and Adams was between the officers and the crowd. When he shot he fell beside a pile of waste. Officer Boyles claims Adams was facing west and running toward the crowd when he was shot. When the crowd learned that one of the number had been wounded it quickly dispersed.

Chief of Police Stahl was summoned from his home, but did not arrive until the crowd had left. Broken cases and smashed beer bottles were carried back into the building and a man stood guard the remainder of the night with a shotgun.

Cronberg, Feb. 25.—King Edward and Emperor William arrived here this morning and drove in a sleigh to Froelichshausen, where the Emperor bid farewell to the King and returned to Homburg.

King Edward proceeded to the bedside of his sister, the Dowager Empress Frederick.

King Edward remained with his sister a quarter of an hour. It was observed that his majesty, on leaving, betrayed no special anxiety and it was deduced therefrom that he was favorably impressed with the Dowager Empress' condition.

Later there was a luncheon at which seven persons sat down. Emperor William, who had, in the meantime, driven over from Homburg, sat next to King Edward in the center of a long table.

The road will not cost more than $100,000 and that will be laid as soon as the snow goes off.

SET FIRE TO MILL.

Property of Tufts & Co., at Cedar River, Near Marinette, Completely Destroyed.

Marinette, Wis., Feb. 25.—[Special.]—Incendiaries set fire to the sawmill owned by Tufts & Co., near Cedar River, early Sunday morning and it was completely destroyed. The loss is $15,000 with no insurance.

The mill had just been completed and the owner expected to begin sawing this week on a big stock of pine logs which they had on hand. After setting the mill afire the incendiaries warned the people of the small village by firing revolvers so as to prevent the flames from spreading beyond the mill.

Wausau, Wis., Feb. 25.—The Kickbusch business block on Third street owned by Robert and Otto Kickbusch and valued at $20,000, was so badly damaged by fire Saturday night that it will have to be practically rebuilt. There was an insurance of $8,000 on the building. The $12,000 clothing stock of Evanson, Butler & Co. was ruined, but an insurance of $10,000 was carried. The bathhouse, saloon and restaurant were flooded, the bar and fixtures being badly damaged and the living rooms on two floors above were practically ruined. The L. A. Hyman fruit and confectionery stock was also damaged by water. Many roomers in the block lost their clothing and personal effects. The total loss will approximate $60,000.

GREET WHITE CHIEF.

Winnebago Indians Are Glad to See Thomas Roddy of Chicago.

Black River Falls, Wis., Feb. 25.—[Special.]—"White Buffalo" of Chicago, Ill., the white chief of the Winnebago Indians, arrived in this city yesterday morning and went at once to the Indian camps near this city, where the religious incantations over the medicine brew are taking place. The white chief was denied admittance to the lodge until the ceremony was over. When the wigwam was opened up the chief was accorded a hearty greeting from the members of the lodge in this neighborhood. The tribe in this vicinity has been worried much of late over the report that White Buffalo had died of smallpox at his Chicago home and the greeting they gave the Irish chief, when they found he was still living, was evidence that he is at least held in high esteem by the tribe. White Buffalo takes a troop of twenty-five braves to the Sportsmen's exposition to be held at the Columbian in Chicago from February 27 to March 1.

There was no evidence of Tom Thunder, the pretender to the chieftainship, around the village. He has been talking considerable of late about fighting White Buffalo and they say he took to the woods on the arrival of the Irish chief.

BUILD TEMPLE AT LA CROSSE.

Masons Will Raise $20,000 for New Building.

The committees have been at work raising funds, and have so far secured enough subscriptions to warrant their going ahead with the work. The temple will cost in the neighborhood of $20,000.

Ed Sharkey, who was hurt last week in camp at Mosinee, is now on the rapid road to recovery.

CRANMOOR.

We notice that Cranmoor does not enjoy a monopoly of the mump trust. While neighboring towns are emulating our example we are still holding our own in families near the station. The disease has been very severe on Charles Kruger, confining him to his bed the greater part of the week. Minnie is getting along nicely, while Harrison the youngest child and probably the last victim in this family is just developing swollen cheeks.

We omitted a notable event last week in the disappearance of the section house from our station. The removal of this building to Sprague by the railroad company, takes away a landmark of many years standing. While it was not a thing of beauty and a joy forever one could find a little protection in the lee of its sides while patiently(?) waiting for an incoming train.

The membership of the Daniel Rezin household is increased by the addition of a little nephew and niece of Mrs. Rezin, who will perhaps remain with them some length of time. Pearl and Roy Rezin are over their illness and are again in school.

Hubert, Mary, Evelyn and Eloise Foley are all sick this week with mumps, gripe and other ailments. Mr. Foley and sister drove to Babcock Wednesday, the needs of the sick necessitating the trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Trahern have returned to their home at Walker station after spending the winter at the home of their daughter Mrs. Jerome Potter at Pittsville.

Miss Lillie Warner, who is learning shorthand at the sisters school in Grand Rapids is expected home Friday evening to remain over Sunday.

A Woodman camp was established here lately with sixteen charter members which with about fifteen former members will consist of a large and strong camp. Meetings will be held the 1st and 3rd Saturday evenings of each month.

The new creamery is now in running order and it is considered one of the most finely equipped creameries in the county everything being of the latest improved pattern. Farmers will do well to patronize this creamery.

The Ladies Aid Society will give an oyster supper at the town hall on March 4th, a sale of fancy articles will also be held. The public are all invited to attend.

Miss Dora Crotteau of Merrill has been a guest at the Payne residence for the past three weeks. She returned home on Wednesday.

ARPIN.

The John Arpin Lumber company will probably complete their logging operations at this point this year. About eight million feet have been put in so far and the season's work will amount to about eleven millions. The season has been an ideal one for logging, as the entire winter has been without thaw enough to injure the roads. The mill will be able to saw all the logs at this point during the present year.

It is probable that the new town of Arpin will purchase the opera house in this village and use it for a town hall. The building is a very good structure for the purpose, and in fact will answer all the requirements of a town house. The building is 28x50 and furnished with a stage.
